

BBB of Los Angeles and Silicon Valley - Sample Privacy Notice

Standard 7 of the BBB Code of Business Practices \(BBB Accreditation Standards\) covers both online and offline conduct and requires that BBB Accredited Businesses or Organizations safeguard privacy. This page is designed to help businesses create an online privacy notice for BBB accreditation.

To satisfy BBB Standard 7 businesses conducting e-commerce must disclose the following on their websites:

- What information they collect;
- With whom it is shared;
- How it can be corrected;
- How it is secured;
- How policy changes will be communicated; and
- How to address concerns over misuse of personal data.

The notice should be posted either on the homepage or through a link found on the homepage of your website. If the information is linked to, the text in the link should be consciously posted so that the text, color, and placement of the link ensure it is visible.

This sample will attempt to provide some resources you can use in developing your privacy notice. Whatever final notice you develop is up to you and will be your responsibility to maintain, update, and adhere to. BBB does not recommend any one set of privacy practices, nor any single privacy notice.

Note that there is a place for your company name or URL in the first paragraph, and a place for your phone number and email address in the last paragraph. Please make sure to personalize these. DO NOT simply cut-and-paste this notice as is and do not include any provisions you do not intend to follow.

Privacy Notice

Effective Date: DATE HERE (You may wish to keep copies of earlier privacy notices as well as the dates for which they were effective).

This privacy notice discloses the privacy practices for (website address). This privacy notice applies solely to information collected by this website, except where stated otherwise. It will notify you of the following:

- What information we collect;
- With whom it is shared;
- How it can be corrected;
- How it is secured;
- How policy changes will be communicated; and
- How to address concerns over misuse of personal data.

Information Collection, Use, and Sharing

We are the sole owners of the information collected on this site. We only have access to/collect information that you voluntarily give us via email or other direct contact from you. We will not sell or rent this information to anyone.

We will use your information to respond to you, regarding the reason you contacted us. We will not share your information with any third party outside of our organization, other than as necessary to fulfill your request, e.g., to ship an order.

Unless you ask us not to, we may contact you via email in the future to tell you about specials, new products or services, or changes to this privacy policy.

Your Access to and Control Over Information

You may opt out of any future contacts from us at any time. You can do the following at any time by contacting us via the email address or phone number provided on our website:

- See what data we have about you, if any.
- Change/correct any data we have about you.
- Have us delete any data we have about you.
- Express any concern you have about our use of your data.

Security

We take precautions to protect your information. When you submit sensitive information via the website, your information is protected both online and offline.

Wherever we collect sensitive information (such as credit card data), that information is encrypted and transmitted to us in a secure way. You can verify this by looking for a closed lock icon at the bottom of your web browser, or looking for "https" at the beginning of the address of the web page.

While we use encryption to protect sensitive information transmitted online, we also protect your information offline. Only employees who need the information to perform a specific job (e.g, billing or customer service) are granted access to personally identifiable information. The computers/servers on which we store personally identifiable information are kept in a secure environment.

Notification of Changes

Whenever material changes are made to the privacy notice specify how you will notify consumers.

Other Provisions as Required by Law

Numerous other provisions and/or practices may be required as a result of laws, international treaties, or industry practices. It is up to you to determine what additional practices must be followed and/or what additional disclosures are required. Please take special notice of the California Online Privacy Protection Act (CalOPPA), which is frequently amended and now includes a disclosure requirement for "Do Not Track" signals.

If you feel that we are not abiding by this privacy policy, you should contact us immediately via telephone at XXX-YYY-ZZZZ or via email.

The above notice probably does not describe your privacy practices exactly. You need to personalize your statement to fit your business practices. Here are some sample clauses that you can use to help describe other specific practices that fit your business model.

Additional Clauses

If your site has a registration page that customers must complete to do business with you, insert a paragraph like this in your privacy notice:

Registration

In order to use this website, a user must first complete the registration form. During registration a user is required to give certain information (such as name and email address). This information is used to contact you about the products/services on our site in which you have expressed interest. At your option, you may also provide demographic information (such as gender or age) about yourself, but it is not required.

If you take and fill orders on your site, insert a paragraph like this in your privacy notice:

Orders

We request information from you on our order form. To buy from us, you must provide contact information (like name and shipping address) and financial information (like credit card number, expiration date). This information is used for billing purposes and to fill your orders. If we have trouble processing an order, we'll use this information to contact you.

If you use cookies or other devices that track site visitors, insert a paragraph like this in your privacy notice:

Cookies

We use "cookies" on this site. A cookie is a piece of data stored on a site visitor's hard drive to help us improve your access to our site and identify repeat visitors to our site. For instance, when we use a cookie to identify you, you would not have to log in a password more than once, thereby saving time while on our site. Cookies can also enable us to track and target the interests of our users to enhance their experience on our site. Usage of a cookie is in no way linked to any personally identifiable information on our site.

If other organizations use cookies or other devices that track site visitors to your site, insert a paragraph like this in your privacy notice:

Some of our business partners may use cookies on our site (e.g., advertisers). However, we have no access to or control over these cookies.

If you share information collected on your site with other parties, insert one or more of these paragraphs in your privacy notice:

Sharing

We share aggregated demographic information with our partners and advertisers. This is not linked to any personal information that can identify any individual person.

And/or:

We use an outside shipping company to ship orders, and a credit card processing company to bill users for goods and services. These companies do not retain, share, store or use personally identifiable information for any secondary purposes beyond filling your order.

And/or:

We partner with another party to provide specific services. When the user signs up for these services, we will share names, or other contact information that is necessary for the third party to provide these services. These parties are not allowed to use personally identifiable information except for the purpose of providing these services.

If your site has links to other sites, you might insert a paragraph like this in your privacy notice:

Links

This web site contains links to other sites. Please be aware that we are not responsible for the content or privacy practices of such other sites. We encourage our users to be aware when they leave our site and to read the privacy statements of any other site that collects personally identifiable information.

If you ever collect data through surveys or contests on your site, you might insert a paragraph like this in your privacy notice:

Surveys & Contests

From time-to-time our site requests information via surveys or contests. Participation in these surveys or contests is completely voluntary and you may choose whether or not to participate and therefore disclose this information. Information requested may include contact information (such as name and shipping address), and demographic information (such as zip code, age level). Contact information will be used to notify the winners and award prizes. Survey information will be used for purposes of monitoring or improving the use and satisfaction of this site.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: This sample privacy notice and/or any guidance given by BBB applies to the BBB Code of Business Practices and does not attempt to provide legal advice or claim that this sample notice satisfies legal requirements which may apply to your website, mobile application, or other online service. Moreover, BBB requires businesses conducting e-commerce to post a notice, however applicable laws may be broader in scope and require this of a wider range of websites, mobile applications, or other online services. Please be aware that different jurisdictions (federal, state, and/or foreign countries) may have their own privacy requirements that may apply to anyone capable of reaching your website, mobile application, or other online service, even if they are not your intended customer base.

A privacy policy involves both legal and technological considerations. You are hereby advised to consult an attorney and a qualified IT person for a review of and consultation on your privacy notice and practices.

Privacy notice requirements are subject to change. You should make it a policy to regularly review your privacy notice and practices to ensure you are keeping up with changes to applicable laws, industry practices, and technology.

Safeguarding privacy is not done by simply adding a privacy notice. You must also implement the proper policies, procedures, and safeguards and ensure your employees, independent contractors, agents, and/or 3rd party partners as well as the technologies you employ, are appropriate in accordance with applicable laws.